ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

On behalf of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists (AAPG) and the European Association of Geoscientists and Engineers (EAGE), it gives us great pleasure to announce the second edition of the Mediterranean and North African Conference (MEDiNA) under the theme 'Unlocking Frontiers: Sustainable Exploration and Innovation in the Mediterranean and North African Region.' The event will take place from 29 September–1 October 2025 in Tunis, Tunisia.

The event is being hosted by ETAP with confirmed support from NOC's, IOC's, technology and service providers, along with other agencies from across the region.

With a strong foundation laid during its inaugural edition in 2022, the forthcoming 2025 conference is poised to deliver an even more enriching and impactful experience. The event will deliver technical resources, programs, workshops and field trips in support of the Mediterranean and North African oil and gas industry. The conference program will encompass topical panel discussions and technical sessions comprised of research-based presentations with the objective of exchanging knowledge, best practices, and experience among participants as well as networking with colleagues. The event will be regionally focused, and we invite proposals from across the North African and Mediterranean region, as well as globally.
